

Open Seminar for Ph.D Students (Section 11.2 of PG Manual)

Open Seminar

Before proceeding to finalize the thesis, each Ph.D. student must deliver a seminar open to faculty and students in which the research work will be presented to obtain comments and criticism which may be incorporated in his/her thesis.

- A notice of the seminar must be displayed at least four days in advance.
- A thesis can be submitted only after the satisfactory fulfillment of this requirement.
- The intimation that the open seminar has been given should be communicated [Form-9 (SPGC), appended] by the thesis supervisor through the Convener, DPGC to the Academic Section.
- The maximum time duration for the submission of the thesis after the delivery of the open seminar will be six months. In exceptional circumstances, the students may seek an extension up to three months with proper justification.
- However, if the thesis is not submitted within the desired period including the extension, the open seminar already delivered will stand cancelled and the student will be required to give a fresh open seminar before he/she submits his/her thesis

Form-9 (SPGC)

PG/SEM/2

Report of Open Seminar

Name of Student: _____ Roll No.: _____

Department/IDP: _____

Date of Delivery of Seminar*: _____

Topic of Seminar: _____

Thesis Supervisor(s): _____

Comments: _____

The candidate delivered the Open Seminar satisfactorily.

Thesis Supervisor(s)

Date:

DPGC Representative

present in the seminar

Convener, DPGC

Date:

Chairperson, SPGC

Date:

* In case the thesis is not submitted within six months from the date of delivery of open seminar, the students may seek an extension up to three months with proper justification. If the thesis is not submitted again within the extension period, the open seminar already delivered will stand cancelled and the student will be required to give a fresh open seminar before he/she submits his/her thesis.